MESSAGE

On the occasion of Teachers' Day we gratefully recall Dr. S. Radhakrishnan, one of the outstanding teachers of our country, who rose to become the President of our Republic. In celebrating his birthday as Teachers' Day the nation pays tribute to the teaching community. It is the teachers who mould the younger generation and equip them with abilities to face future challenges and to become good citizens. Education for children from 6 to 14 years has now been made compulsory and a legal right. It is the teachers who would ensure the quality of education by motivating their students and arousing their spirit of inquiry.

The legacy of Dr. S. Radhakrishnan as a teacher, philosopher and statesman is a source of inspiration for the entire nation. Let the teaching fraternity derive lessons from his life and work and rededicate themselves to building a vibrant India known for its educational strength and human resources.

I extend my warm greetings to the teaching community and wish them all success.

(Manmohan Singh)
